

American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009

Reznick Group provides state agencies with solutions for ARRA fund monitoring, oversight, accountability, and transparency

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (ARRA) requires unprecedented reporting, oversight, and accountability compliance at all levels of government. As a result, the requirements associated with managing a complex program of this nature are putting a major strain on many federal, state, and local agency resources.

Reznick Group has significant experience assisting federal and state agencies and OIGs in addressing complex rules and regulations, financial reporting, and other requirements.

We can provide solutions to facilitate oversight, reporting, and project management of ARRA funds, including the development of:

- Strategies for monitoring, tracking, and accounting for funds associated with ARRA
- Programs for monitoring risk and mitigation of fraud, waste, and abuse
- Methods for processing applications quickly and preventing improper payments
- Processes for meeting federal reporting and transparency requirements
- Procedures to ensure compliance with ARRA program regulations, federal and state laws and regulations, and local policies
- Processes for the distribution of billions in federal funding in full compliance with federal, state, and local policies
